

The Wind

The wind is a perfect example of the power and control of the Creator, our Father.

That is why His word says that the Holy Spirit is likened unto the wind.

It moves about as It wishes, and It is controlled by Him.

It is unseen, but you feel It and hear It.

Many times, it is comforting and soothing, and other times It is violent and harsh.

It reflects Him -- His wonderful, merciful side, and His side of judgment and wrath.

Man cannot control His wind, although he tries; he will never master this.

His angels control the wind based on His beckoning.

He blows His wind into those He chooses, just as He blew into you on the day of your salvation.

His wind is His, and man cannot control it.

It is like a mystery likened unto the depths of the sea -- untouched by man and marvelous.

He reveals His wind unto whom He chooses, for He is the Potter and the Maker.

Hear His wind and think of Him, worship Him, and surrender to Him.

As His child, His wind will continue to comfort you and bring you peace and enjoyment.

Think of Him, and consider the winds a blessing from Him to you.
